

AH-032 - Spring

Description

AH-032 Spring

In general, springs are mechanisms that have the capacity to absorb, store and release energy through a change in shape. In this specific application the use for the spring is to return a mechanism to its starting position after having been pulled.

Equipment Reference

610

611

Catalogues/Families

Spare Part Type
Mechanical Component
Stock Type
Made to Order	